

"God grant that your mental horizon may grow wider every day. Systems are only dear to those who cannot take the whole truth into their hands and who want to catch it by the tail. A system is like the tail of truth but truth is like a lizard. It will leave its tail in your hands and then escape you. It knows that within a very short time it will grow another."

- IVAN TURGONEV

"What we realize is that behind this lies the whole temptation of the mind to control. But the nature of theology is that it should be receptive rather than controlling, open rather than grasping; a matter of delight rather than a matter of mastery. Grasping, controlling, and mastery are faster and seem surer. They are the shortcut to truth, but they produce a reduced vision of the truth. So always be suspicious of theological success."
